

Mobile Photo Workshops

A brand new concept in photographic workshops

Private & personalized instruction focusing on your needs and interests in photography.

Many of you now have expensive digital cameras but you don't have the expertise to know how to use them properly. Our instruction will teach you the technical skills to take better-composed photographs that express both power and emotion. We will show you how to use your camera to achieve your greatest visual potential. Work with the award winning photographer, Les Stone. These workshops can take place at locations convenient and suitable to the students. Private Homes. Libraries. Schools. Etc.

BIO: Les Stone.

During the last two decades, Stone has traveled extensively throughout the world as a photojournalist. Very few photographers have chronicled the world's history with such depth and understanding. The winner of several World Press Photo Awards and Picture of the Year Awards, his images have appeared in National Geographic, Time, Life, Newsweek, Stern and Fortune and many others. Stone's work straddles the worlds of photojournalism and fine art photography.

The maximum number of students allowed for this workshop is eight.

These workshops can take place on weekends or weekdays.

The price is $650.00 for the one-day workshop, plus travel expenses.
