

EXHIBITION

Vision Project would like to announce an exhibition of photographs and multimedia by

ALFREDO BINI

Land Grabbing or Land to Investors?

Bini's compelling images and video look at the issues of land development in Ethiopia. Is control of land by companies that are outside of Ethiopia justifiable if almost all of the food grown is exported for profit to other countries? Decisions made about these issues will have tremendous impact on the lives of the people who live and work there.

On Sunday, September 21, 2014 at 6:00 pm, there will be a discussion of the situation featuring: Alfredo Bini, Greg Moyer, the founder of, Blue Chalk Media, Iain Levine, program director at Human Rights Watch, Paolo D'Odorico, environmental science professor at the University of Virginia, and Saulo Araujo, program director of Why Hunger.

Photoville
Brooklyn Bridge Park, NY,
September, 18-28, 2014